WHEREAS, current Federal, State, and Local regulations do not properly address the sale of puppy and kitten mill dogs and cats both in and out of pet stores; and

WHEREAS, a significant number of puppies and kittens sold at pet stores come from large-scale, commercial breeding facilities where the health and welfare of the animals are not adequately provided for (“puppy mills” and “kitten mills,” respectively); and

WHEREAS, the documented abuses endemic to puppy and kitten mills include over-breeding; inbreeding; minimal to non-existent veterinary care; lack of adequate and nutritious food, water and shelter; lack of socialization; lack of adequate space; and lack of adequate exercise; and

WHEREAS, puppies produced in puppy and kitten mills often have health and behavioral issues, which many consumers are unaware of when purchasing animals due, in part, to misleading sales tactics of pet stores. These health and behavioral issues can impose exorbitant financial and emotional costs on consumers; and

WHEREAS, according to the Journal of the American Medical Association and the Centers of Disease Control, antibiotic-resistant Campylobacter infections linked to pet store puppies have been circulating for at least ten years, continuing to cause illness among pet store customers and staff and posing a public health threat;

WHEREAS, prohibiting the retail sale of puppies and kittens is likely to decrease the demand for puppies and kittens bred in puppy and kitten mills, and is likely to increase demand for animals from animal shelters and rescue organizations; and

WHEREAS, prohibiting the retail sale of puppies and kittens will likely reduce pet overpopulation and thus the burden on shelters and rescues and financial costs on local taxpayers; and

WHEREAS, prohibiting the retail sale of puppies and kittens will limit the instances in which residents fall victim to predatory financing with excessively high-interest rates in order to afford the high cost of pet store puppies; and
WHEREAS, across the country, thousands of independent pet stores as well as large chains operate profitably with a business model focused on the sale of pet services and supplies and not on the sale of dogs and cats; and

WHEREAS, this Ordinance will not affect consumers' ability to obtain a dog or cat of their choice directly from a shelter, rescue, or responsible breeder; and

WHEREAS, the City Council believes it is in the best interests of the City to adopt reasonable regulations to reduce costs to the City and its residents, protect their citizens who may purchase cats or dogs from a pet store or other business establishment, help prevent inhumane breeding conditions, promote community awareness of animal welfare, zoonotic diseases and public health, and foster a more humane environment.
